

Course Introduction

Core business functions offer abundant opportunities for undetected fraud. In this eye-opening, two-day seminar you will pinpoint the area most prone to internal fraud and identify key indicators of potential occupational fraud. Attendees will understand key areas to focus on the expenditure, revenue/cash receipts, treasury, inventory, travel expense, contract, payroll and HR, computer, marketing, and outsourced functions as targets for fraud. Attendees will learn to cover the methodologies used by those who would do harm and focus on the red flags that signify the need for an investigation. You will learn how to implement and develop audit procedures that will increase the likelihood of discovering fraud.
